SHISHU CHETNA (BUNNY) PROGRAMME

Age Group – 3 years to 6 years

BUNNY SYLLABUS & WORKBOOK

Words of Wisdom

Dear All

Namaskar!

It is with immense joy and pride that I introduce the Syllabus Booklet of the Shishu Chetna (Bunny Programme), a pioneering initiative designed for children aged 3-6 years. As the founder of the Hindustan Scouts & Guides Association, India, I firmly believe that early childhood education is the cornerstone of a brighter future. Our Bunny Programme is meticulously crafted to lay a strong foundation for young minds, instilling the values of scouting from the very beginning.

This comprehensive programme seamlessly integrates fun and learning, focusing on the holistic development of children. It introduces the principles of scouting in an age-appropriate manner, nurturing a sense of curiosity, creativity and compassion in young learners. Through interactive activities and engaging content, children acquire essential life skills such as teamwork, responsibility and respect for nature.

Scouting is not just an activity, but a way of life that fosters character building, resilience, empathy, and self-reliance in children. By participating in the Bunny Programme, children are exposed to the joys of exploration and the spirit of adventure, which are crucial during these formative years.

I extend my heartfelt congratulations to Dr. Jyoti Arora, National Commissioner (Guides) at HSGA, for her visionary leadership and tireless efforts in bringing this initiative to life.

I am confident that the Shishu Chetna (Bunny Programme) will provide an enriching experience for both children and educators, serving as a guide for young bunnies to embark on a journey of self-discovery and growth. I urge you all to embrace this programme with enthusiasm and support your children as they take their first steps into the world of scouting.

Warm regards

Sh. Srinivasan Sharma

Visionary Thoughts

Dear All

Namaskaar & Warm Greetings!

I am delighted to present the Syllabus Booklet of the Shishu Chetna (Bunny Programme) for our youngest members, aged 3-6 years.

As the President of the Hindustan Scouts & Guides Association, I recognize the immense potential in nurturing young minds through structured and meaningful activities.

The Bunny Programme is meticulously crafted to introduce the foundational values of scouting in a playful and engaging manner. It emphasizes character development, social skills, and a love for nature, which are important at this tender age. Our activities are designed to stimulate curiosity and encourage exploration, providing an environment where children feel safe to express themselves and learn collaboratively.

Scouting instils a sense of community and belonging, teaching children the importance of cooperation, kindness, and respect.

Through the Shishu Chetna Programme, children embark on a path of discovery that helps shape their personality and instills values that last a lifetime. The programme includes diverse activities such as storytelling, nature walks, and creative projects that make learning both enjoyable and impactful.

As we guide these young bunnies, we are also laying the groundwork for future leaders who are empathetic, responsible, and courageous.

I encourage parents and educators to actively participate and support this initiative, helping children to flourish and develop a lifelong love for learning and exploration.

Sincerely

Sh. Bharat Arora

National Chairman

Leader's Insight

Dear All

Namaste!

It gives me immense pleasure to introduce the Syllabus Booklet of the Shishu Chetna (Bunny Programme) tailored for our little ones aged 3-6 years. As the National Commissioner of the Hindustan Scouts & Guides Association, I am passionate about instilling the values of scouting in children from a young age.

The Shishu Chetna Programme is an innovative approach to early childhood education, integrating the core principles of scouting with fun and engaging activities. This programme is designed to nurture young minds, imbibing a sense of wonder, creativity, and empathy. The activities included are aimed at promoting cognitive and emotional development, helping children build confidence and social skills. Scouting teaches children the importance of community, respect for others, and love for nature. These values are seamlessly woven into the Bunny Programme, ensuring that children learn through play and exploration.

The syllabus includes a variety of activities such as songs, games, nature exploration, and crafts, all of which are designed to be age-appropriate and captivating. Through this programme, we aim to develop well-rounded individuals who are curious, kind, and resilient. It is crucial to provide children with opportunities to explore their environment, ask questions, and work together, laying the foundation for a lifetime of learning and growth.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to Sh. K.S. Chauhan for his valuable contributions to the development of this programme and in shaping the Shishu Chetna Programme into a comprehensive and engaging experience for our young bunnies.

I urge parents and educators to embrace the Shishu Chetna Programme and support our young bunnies as they embark on this exciting journey.

Best wishes

Dr. Jyoti Arora

National Commissioner (Guides)

Inspiring Voice

Dear All

Warm greetings! As a Board Member of the Hindustan Scouts & Guides Association, India, I am thrilled to introduce the Syllabus Booklet of the Shishu Chetna (Bunny Programme) designed for children aged 3-6 years. This programme embodies our commitment to fostering early childhood development through the timeless values of scouting.

The Shishu Chetna Programme offers a blend of educational and recreational activities that are perfect for young children. It aims to cultivate essential life skills such as cooperation, problem-solving, and respect for nature. By integrating the principles of scouting, this programme provides a nurturing environment where children can grow emotionally, socially, and intellectually.

Scouting encourages a spirit of adventure and discovery, which is particularly beneficial during early childhood. The Bunny Programme includes activities that stimulate curiosity and creativity, from interactive games and storytelling sessions to nature walks and craft projects. These activities are designed to be both enjoyable and educational, helping children to develop a love for learning.

By participating in the Shishu Chetna Programme, children gain invaluable experiences that shape their character and worldview. They learn the importance of teamwork, empathy, and self-discipline, which are crucial for their overall development. I invite parents and educators to actively support and engage with this programme, providing our young bunnies with the tools they need to thrive.

Kind regards

Sh. Kishore Singh Chauhan

SHISHU CHETNA (BUNNY) PROGRAMME

Objective of the Programme :

Scouts and Guides Association (HSGA), India, recognised by the Ministry of Youth Affairs & Sports, Government of India, conceptualized the Shishu Chetna (Bunny) Programme during the International Year of the Child, aiming to introduce the concept of scouting and guiding to young learners aged 3-6 years. This innovative programme engages young citizens in an attractive and developmentally appropriate manner, serving as a feeder for the Cub/Bulbul section. Grounded in the principle of all-round development, the programme focuses on nurturing young minds during their formative years, laying a strong foundation for future growth. By investing in early childhood development, HSGA, India is shaping the future of our nation.

1 Understand your Bunnies before the Training

A) Motivating Your Bunnies.

Kids are super smart and love to learn. They respond well to positive encouragement, like rewards and praise. Instead of punishing them, we can motivate them with fun incentives like their favorite snacks or toys. This encourages good behavior and helps them feel happy and confident. If they feel scared or uncomfortable, they might need some extra support and reassurance before they're ready to learn. By being patient and understanding, we can help them feel safe and happy and they'll be more likely to respond positively to training.

B) Discover the Wonder of Little Bunnies

Children under 6 years old often feel shy and avoid direct eye contact, often looking away from the person speaking to them. Despite their limited experiences, young children have sharp memories and can remember and identify events happening around them. Some children might not react immediately but keenly observe and remember things. It's important to be polite and avoid using harsh language during training. Gentle talk, touch and playful training are the best ways to make children happy. This approach helps them learn a lot and keeps them interested.

C) Love , Care and Respect is the key to unlock a lifelong bond

When you treat them with love, care, and respect, they'll respond with affection and loyalty. By spending quality time with your child, meeting their needs, and showing them kindness, you'll earn their trust and respect. Remember, gentle guidance and positive reinforcement are the way to go - never punish or hurt your little one. With patience, love, and understanding, your Bunny will thrive and become a joyful companion who will bring so much happiness to your life.
